N.E.V. NORMAL CELEBRATES SILVER ENVIROSCHOOL ACCREDITATION

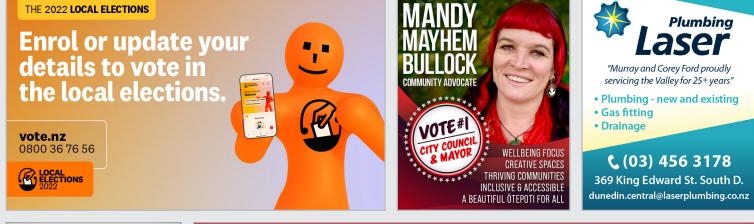

Singing, gift-giving, and gratitude were plenteous at North East Valley Normal School during a celebratory assembly marking a major milestone in their Enviroschools journey. Last month, NEVNS was awarded the prestigious Silver Accreditation for incorporating the Enviroschools' Five Guiding Principles over the past twelve years across all areas of school life.

The nationwide, action-based environmental programme empowers Kiwi children to design and lead sustainability projects in their schools, neighborhoods, and country. 1,002 New Zealand early childhood centres and schools are current participants - a hundred are in Otago alone. The Enviroschools kaupapa is about creating a healthy, peaceful, sustainable world through learning and taking action together.

NEVNS became an Enviroschool in 2010, earning Bronze Accreditation eight years later for laying their foundations and committing to a long-term sustainability journey. Silver status has now been achieved for developing, maintaining, and expanding on projects such as communications with the ORC and DCC around climate emergency, and participation in the School Strike for Climate with a haka for Papatūānuku. Unsupervised composting duties and organised game play are also contributors, as well as ongoing teaching and learning around sustainability, gardening activity and education, and integration of Māori culture and language.

A LETTER FROM OUR NEWLY ELECTED CHAIRPERSON, JAMES SUTHERLAND

Kia Ora koutou. You spoke... we listened. One of the outcomes from our recent AGM was that you, the readers of our Valley Voice, wanted to know about what we are up to at the Valley Project. So going forward you are going to be graced by a column written by me on behalf of the Executive which runs the governance and strategic side of the Valley Project. We are a group of around eight people who are highly qualified and give a massive amount of energy and time back to our community through the Project. Not only do I want to inform you with what we have been up to, but also highlight the good that is happening in the Valley... to celebrate the best of us.

A new executive was formed after the previous AGM. I have been fortunate enough to take on the role as Chair of the Project, with Rob Thomson elected Deputy Chair, Marc Schalenberg as Treasurer, and Eleanor Linscott as Secretary. This is a hugely dynamic team, with further members offering a huge set of skills as well. Our key focus is getting the Valley Project strategic plan in place. This is an important bit of work which allows us to apply for critical funding and also set the direction for staff and the organisation to follow. To date, the staff and executive have worked collaboratively on the plan. We are hoping by next month to have this published for the community to view.

Alongside the strategic plan, we will be reviewing and creating new policies and procedures for the project. This is important for any organisation to strengthen areas of weakness and enhance others. This will again strengthen the workplace for our employees and users of our wonderful space.

On behalf of the executive, I would like to thank our staff for all their continued hard work. The work they do for our community is huge. I would also like to thank our funders for their continued support as a charity. Without the support of funders, the work we do for you would not be possible. If you would like to donate to us, please have a look at our givealittle page: www.givealittle.co.nz/northeastvalley.

Together as a community we can achieve great things. Remember to check in on one another, check on that friend you have not seen in a while, or on your elderly neighbour. It is connections that bond community and make it more cohesive and resilient. -- Nga mihi nui, James

VALLEY SPRING CLEAN RETURNING

We are super excited to announce that the great Valley Spring Clean is returning this year on Saturday, 24th September. If you're in the mood for a clear-out but want to ensure you're being responsible with what you no longer need, then the Spring Clean is for you. With support from Dunedin City Council, we aim to reduce sending waste to landfill. We'll have a team of dedicated volunteers assessing and diverting as much as possible away from the skip.

Workshops on minimising waste, repairing electronics, and repurposing/mending clothing will be happening on the day, as well as clothing swaps, weeding missions, and much more. We're aiming for a fun, family day with food, music, a sense of purpose, and most importantly a coming together of community. More details will be available in September's Valley Voice but circle this date on your calendar and start sorting out your garage and basement. You don't want to miss this one!

ONLINE SHOPPING IS HERE!

New World Gardens are excited to announce the launch of their new Online Shopping Service. New World Gardens Owner/Operators Julie and Craig Broderick have put together a dedicated team to operate the service. "It's a whole new department including a few current staff that were moved to Online, and the recruitment of some further staff to add to the team, which is really exciting," the couple said.

The Online Shopping Team have had specific training, spent time in the store getting to know the layout, and undertook a "Friends and Family" trial week in mid-June to test the systems prior to Go Live on June 20th. Customers can shop 24/7 and have their groceries delivered or collected at a time that suits them. Customers can create lists, leave notes for their personal shopper so they can customise the order, and can select fresh food just how they like it. Delivery or Click & Collect options are available.

Julie said the store is offering an extra service for their Click & Collect customers: "With our Click & Collect service we have a concierge who will bring the groceries out to your car, load the groceries into your boot - so we are just trying to replicate the service we have in store, and this has been overwhelmingly well received by all those that have utilised the service to date. There is no need for lockers or customers having to get out of their car!" There are now dedicated car parks at the front entrance for the ease of customers who choose Click & Collect.

"We're just excited to be able to offer our customers something that they have been wanting for a long time."

The online shopping delivery will initially be available to those in the North East Valley area and then in a couple of months we will be expanding to further locations.

CANDIDATE MEETINGS IN OPOHO

Dates have been set for what are probably the most popular and liveliest Dunedin City Council candidate meetings - those held every three years at Ōpoho Church.

Half the candidates will line up on Sunday, September 18, from 7pm at the church, and half the following night, September 19. The meetings are timed to coincide with when electors receive their information booklets about the candidates.

Mask wearing will be required because of Covid, and it will be necessary not to cram the church as we have in other years.

More details about the meetings are scheduled for next month's Valley Voice. -- Philip Somerville (aka The Cat in the Hat)

STV SYSTEM - UNDERSTANDING SINGLE TRANSFERABLE VOTE

STV means that voters are able to rank candidates in order of preference. In a nutshell, it's in the title - single transferable vote. Pick the person you most want to be elected onto the council, and in case they are not voted in, the second person you would most like to see on council, and so forth.

STV means that you have one vote, but can indicate your preferences for all the candidates. For your vote to be eligible you only need to vote for one person. You can number as many or as few candidates as you want. The number of vacancies and votes determines the quota a candidate must reach to be elected.

What happens is the popular candidates get voted in straight away, which sets a percentage of the vote the other candidates need to obtain. This quota is worked out by the total number of valid votes divided by the number of vacancies plus one.

To be clear, do you need to rank all the candidates? No, just pick a few people whom you would like to see representing you.

Keep it simple. Single transferable vote. -- Mandy Mayhem Bullock

SEAWEED USES FOR AROUND HOME

Here are some ideas from the North East Valley Community Garden:

COMPOST SEAWEED. Seaweed is a broad-spectrum fertiliser that promotes plant growth, and is rich in a range of micro and macro nutrients. It is a rich source of potassium and magnesium. Trace elements (nutrients that plants require in small quantities) including iron, manganese, zinc, and boron are also found in seaweed. These are often not found in other fertilisers. It is also completely biodegradable, breaks down quickly, and is harmless to the environment.

When adding seaweed to the compost heap or bin, don't add too much at one time. If you add too much seaweed at once to your heap, it can become slimy and anaerobic. Be sure to add plenty of carbon-rich fibrous material at the same time, and keep layering brown and green material as you build up your heap. Remember to add enough water to your compost heap to keep it moist.

USE SEAWEED AS A MULCH. Seaweed can be used to great effect as a garden mulch. It can protect the soil surface from nutrient leaching, erosion, and frost. It helps to maintain moisture in the soil by reducing evaporation. It functions as a slow-release fertiliser which enriches soil over time. Seaweed also reduces weed growth therefore limiting the need for manual weeding.

Some people are concerned about the salt content in seaweed. If you are, consider hosing it off before adding it to your garden.

MAKE A LIQUID FERTILISER. A seaweed liquid plant feed can be great for giving plants a quick boost, especially so for fruiting plants.

How to make seaweed into a liquid feed: Gather your seaweed. Rinse off excess salt. Fill a bucket three-quarters full with water, and add as much seaweed as will fit. Weigh down the seaweed to keep it under the water. Place a lid on the bucket. Stir the mix every few days. Leave it for two to three months if possible.

Strain and dilute with three parts water to one part of the mix. Add any leftover solids to the compost heap. Place seaweed tea in a watering can, and use it around the base of your plants, or spray it on as a foliar feed. -- Merylei Guthrie

GARDENSTAR - TWO YEARS ON...

Gardenstar is a scheme for rating the biodiversity value of private gardens, that we hope will help promote urban biodiversity in NZ cities. Gardens collectively cover a large proportion of our cities (36% in Dunedin), so their landscaping and management has a huge impact on biodiversity. Even small spaces can be valuable habitat for small species of invertebrates, or as steppingstones for mobile species. Two years ago, N.E. Valley residents answered our call for gardens to test the performance of our rating tool, along with others across Dunedin and in the Whakatipu Basin.

The Gardenstar rating process collects information on four aspects of your garden: (1) "habitat extent" is the amount of permeable surface; (2) "habitat quality" is calculated from the areas covered by native or non-native vegetation of different heights; (3) "habitat management" looks at activities such as pest control, pesticide use, wildlife enhancement (e.g. insect hotels), and the presence of free-roaming cats; and (4) "landscape context" takes into account clumping of vegetation, and connections with neighbourhood trees and activities. All this information is crunched down into a single figure for each category and an overall score.

The figure below shows the feedback we gave to the householders in our study. The score for a property (the black star) is shown relative to the distribution of all the scores from ~100 gardens. This garden received a low overall score due to poor habitat quality, and a low proportion of permeable surface. Here our feedback suggested planting groups of native species and creating habitats for animals. Overall, Dunedin gardens had higher scores than many in the Whakatipu Basin, reflecting recent medium-density housing developments near Queenstown. We'd like to see Gardenstar become a nation-wide initiative. There seems to be real enthusiasm for the concept; the challenge will be in persuading councils to support it as a way to enhance the biodiversity value of gardens - our own private national parks. -- Yolanda van Heezik

Can you find and dispose of litter in your neighbourhood?

When rubbish is left behind in the environment it can stay there for a very long time. It can wash into our precious waterways and make our environment and wildlife sick. Can you help?

What to do: Grab a bag and go outside. Pick up any litter or rubbish you come across. Wear gloves to do so, or use some tongs. Dump your collected waste into a nearby rubbish bin or into your own bin at home. Make sure to take an adult with you, and to wash your hands with soap and water afterwards.

ORC REMINDS COMMUNITIES TO BURN DRY, BREATHE EASY

Air quality can vary immensely throughout Otago, depending on locations and the time of the year. We generally accept we're able to enjoy good air quality most of the time. However, it's vital we focus on improving air quality, where possible, to enable us to live in a healthier region.

Otago Regional Council is currently running its annual Burn Dry Breathe Easy campaign highlighting ways to ensure your firewood is dry in time for winter, and the effects that burning wet wood and other items can have on the environment.

The Council hopes this campaign will encourage residents to consider their health and that of others in their area when using wood burners. Woodsmoke pollution can be reduced when residents burn only dry wood and keep their fire hot and not smouldering. Thermally efficient homes with good insulation can potentially reduce woodsmoke pollution as well.

Keep an eye out for ORC's Burn Dry Breathe Easy tips on their Facebook page, or to find out more, visit www.orc.govt.nz/bdbe.

What not to burn: treated wood, offcuts from building sites, old decking, rubbish, green waste, plastic, clothes, electronics, and disposable nappies.

CONNOR'S COLUMN: A NZ SPORTS HALL OF FAMER

Bruce McLaren was the founder of the McLaren F1 Team. His love for cars started at a young age, as his parents owned a gas station in Remuera, Auckland. He soon started motor racing in local hill climbs at the age of 14, after his father bought an Austin Seven for £110.

After a few years of winning races with a variety of cars, he found himself flying to Europe on a "Driver to Europe" scholarship. Soon his career launched, winning big races and moving onto becoming the youngest Grand Prix Winner for the Formula One race at Sebring, USA in 1959. He was just 21. He started the McLaren Cars company in 1963, which now produces hundreds of luxury road cars in Woking, England.

Sadly on the 2nd June 1970, tragedy struck. Bruce was killed in a testing accident at Goodwood, England, in his own race car design. He was only 32.

His name lives on in the McLaren Racing team and in the Formula One team which has a successful past, involving great drivers such as Bruce himself, Denny Hulme, Aryton Senna, Mika Häkkien, and Lewis Hamilton, to name a few. He's an inaugural member of the New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame, has a racing circuit in Taupō named after him, as well as an intermediate school that sits on Bruce McLaren Road in the West Auckland suburb of McLaren Park.

"I feel life is measured in achievement, not in years alone." Bruce McLaren. -- Connor Fa'asega

SACRED HEART HAS A NEW SWING!

When the opportunity arose last year to possibly be able to purchase a swing for our school playground it was met with great excitement! We had surveyed our community around what new ideas people wanted to see in our playground, and following this we had recently installed some new rainbow radical climbing rings and some musical instruments, but the hotly desired swing remained on the list as a lofty financial goal for our wee school. We also had a working priority of how we could make our playground accessible to all, with one of our students unable to use any of the current playground equipment. And so, the project was kicked into action.

There were a number of dots to connect with funding, quotes, purchasing, ordering, waiting... It has taken a few months to come together... But with the amazing support of Sport Otago, Sport New Zealand, Alexander McMillan Trust and Bendigo Valley Sports and Charity Foundation, we have been able to make this dream a reality. Our school community is so grateful to these organisations for their support and such generous funding to enable this invaluable accessible play opportunity.

Play is a huge part of our school, and an integral part of the well-being of our tamariki. In the break times, before, during, and after school, the playground is always busy with groups of children of all ages playing together. It is so exciting to think we now have this equipment that provides a play opportunity for all;. An inclusive play space that allows one of our students who was missing out, to be able to play, and also play with and alongside her peers. This will also have direct benefits to the wider community who frequently use our school and hall facilities.

Thank you again to Sport Otago, Sport New Zealand, Alexander McMillan Trust and Bendigo Valley Sports and Charity Foundation for supporting this project.

He aha te mea nui? Māku e kii atu, he tāngata, he tāngata, he tāngata, he tāngata.

What is the most important thing in the world? Well, let me tell you, it is people, it is people. -- Gina Preece

SAFER STREETS WORKS

The DCC have completed road safety improvements around NEV Normal School as part of their Safer School Streets projects. The North Road pedestrian crossing has been upgraded, school-zone speed limits have dropped to 30km, and new signage is now installed.

Longworth Street has also undergone significant changes, including new parking restrictions which some have found a tad confusing. Marylin Johnson of the DCC clarifies the "no stopping" zones now active on Longworth and a portion of North Road beside the school entrance:

During the peak of school dropoff and pick-up times (between 8:30 - 9:30am and 2:45 - 3:45pm, Monday through Friday), parking is allowable for no more than five minutes for the purpose of dropping off or picking up children to and from school. Outside of thes times and days these spaces revert to and from school. Outside of these times and days, these spaces revert back to unlimited parking. www.dunedin.govt.nzservices/roads-and-footpaths/ projects/safer-school-streets

(...continued from front page) many of them were shown due appreciation at the assembly. Senior syndicate teacher, Theresa Bowen, led the way by first thanking Enviroschool facilitator, Jennie Upton. Next, the school's extraordinary groundskeeper, Carl Teunissen, was acknowledged as "probably one of the most important people at [NEVNS]," and was given a gift voucher along with greeting cards handmade by admiring students. Professionally produced posters illustrating the school's take on the five Enviroschool Guiding Principals (headed Climate Challenge) were gifted to the teachers. Packets of hand-collected and delicately packaged flower seeds were distributed to all 170 families whose tamariki attend North East Valley Normal school!

Expressions of appreciation did not stop there! The school's affectionately named "Enviromums" were presented with potted Kowhai trees for their mahi running garden classes at the neighbouring Community Gardens. Every Tuesday during school terms, Sarah Frampton, Karin Ludwig, Vicki Hodge, KJ Davies, Anna Read, and Emma Allen literally connect kids with the land by teaching them hands-on about soil, composting, and planting. YouthGrow's Lucy Parsons was present as well as she and the team at the local garden centre often donate seedlings to the school.

As much as she tried to shy away from it, Theresa Bowen also received recognition for her Enviroschool dedication. "If it weren't for her, North East Valley Normal School wouldn't have gone for silver!"

Finally, the school itself was gifted two pear trees, a Nashi tree, and a framed Silver Accreditation certificate. Senior students then performed a moving haka that thundered through the hall. Mayor Aaron Hawkins closed the special occasion by formally thanking all parties involved, adding that, "every time I come into the Valley, I feel a wee bit jealous of the strength of the community here." -- Krysha Brzuza

SAY HELLO TO SOME OF OUR NEW STAFF AND EXECUTIVES!

Kia ora, I'm JAMES SUTHERLAND, your new Chair of the Valley Project for this year. I have around 6yrs experience in the governance setting. Currently I sit on the board of Life Matters Suicide Prevention Trust, along with being a peer supporter for the organisation as well. I've been involved with the Valley Project for 3yrs now. Last year I was secretary for the executive. I'm deeply passionate about the connections of our community and what binds us together as the best suburb in Dunedin. I'm sure all of you can attest to that. A fun fact about me is that I have biked up Baldwin Street on an electric bike! If you have any ways you want to see your community improved, hit me up.

Hi! I am JULIE BRODERICK, the new Owner/Operator of New World Gardens (along with my husband Craig!) and I'm very excited about being part of the North East Valley Community. Along with our three children, we have recently moved from South Otago where I was well involved in many organisations through the children's schooling and sporting groups, as well as a Women in Business group. What I hope to achieve on the Valley Project Exec is the provision of a connection to the businesses within the area and to look at where we can assist and support this incredible organisation to ensure that the needs of our community are met.

Kia ora! I'm LIAM DELL and I'm very happy to have joined the Valley Project as the new Community Development Coordinator. I come from a background of not-for-profit and charity advocacy, as well as community health and harmreduction practice. I look forward to contributing to the team and collaborating with them and the community to create new opportunities, sustain successful initiatives, and promote communal events. I'm eager to meet with you and discuss advocacy and event opportunities, or whatever it is that is on your mind! In my spare time I like to make music, practice photography, go to gigs, and travel. I base myself in St. Clair where I can be close to the beach and friends.

Ko Kapukataumahaka te maunga e rū nei taku ngākau. Ko Puke Hau Kea te awa e mahea nei aku māharahara. Nō Ōtepoti ahau. Ko ROSS BENNETT ahau. E mihi ana ki ngā tohu o nehe, o Ōtepoti e noho nei au. Nō reira, tēnā koutou katoa. Kia ora koutou, my name is Ross Bennett and I'm very proud to be selected to the Executive Board for the Valley Project in 2022. I was born and bred in Ōpoho. I was a teacher at NEVNS last year but have taken a year off to study for my Masters of Contemporary Education. My fiancé, Wallnely, and I have a cosy house in Crown Street that's slowly filling with animals. Most days you can see us being dragged around the neighbourhood by our dog, Lãrica. We really love the sense of community that NEV has. My hopes are to assist the VP and the Valley community using my education experience.

Kia ora, my name is RADHA FORREST and I'm continuing on the board this term. I've been involved with The Valley Project for a number of years, starting as a volunteer receptionist and volunteering with various projects, to then joining the board. The Valley is a wonderful place to live and work, and I have enjoyed seeing the project grow, change, and adapt over the last few years. I'm enthusiastic about where The Valley Project is headed and look forward to continuing my Valley Project journey in supporting our vibrant and well connected community. In my spare time I enjoy gardening, nature walks, and trying to keep my houseplants alive.

Kia ora, I'm MARC SCHALLENBERG and I'm happy to be a new member of the Executive of the Valley Project (the new Treasurer) and to help build the resilience of our great community and create opportunities for people to meet and work together for the common good. I am a freshwater scientist, based at the University of Otago. Using my freshwater expertise, I've worked with many community groups and have found it has been very rewarding – a win-win situation! Previously I've had governance roles as Chairperson and Treasurer of a school board and as the President of the New Zealand Freshwater Sciences Society. I'm also currently the new Secretary of the North Dunedin Shed Society. I'm impressed with the calibre of both the people on the Exec and with the Valley Project's hard-working and committed staff. I really look forward to serving my community and to working with some old friends and many new faces.

CERI JENKINS has been part of the Valley for 25 years residing in Ōpoho. Ceri brings a huge range of skills and life experience to the table, particularly around hardship and understanding her community's needs. Ceri also has a strong understanding of the power of volunteer work and how rewarding it can be. Volunteering can lead to significant self-growth and building of social networks. She has a passion for the environment and the circular economy. A fun fact: Ceri is the welsh spelling of 'Keri' in recognition of her Welsh roots.
