Ski Trip to Ohau

For Ski Camp 2022, we went to Ohau Ski Field. This is found in the Mackenzie Basin near Twizel. We were lucky enough to stay in the Lake Ohau Lodge at the bottom of the ski field which made for a short journey up the mountain each morning. We had six skiers and one snowboarder. We had a lesson both days to begin the day, after which we were free to hang out on the button lift or the chair lift.

The weather on Thursday was rolling clouds which sometimes made for a bit of fun navigating the slope. Friday was a blue bird day, sunshine for the whole time and lots of clear runs. Thank you to Miss Flockton and Mrs Abbott for taking us on the trip. We look forward to next year.

SCHOOL MISSION: Inspiring Excellence in Education, in Character and in Life.

Kia ora,

Māori Language Week

As Māori language week comes to an end we would like to thank our staff and students for their effort during the week organising several competitions and activities on a daily basis.

Canteen Closing

We are also announcing today that the canteen will be closing at the end of this term. Unfortunately, we are unable to compete with the rising cost of products and sell them at a price that is reasonable and manageable for our students. This combined with the Ministry's healthy lunches also meant that demand has dropped making the venture less profitable. Therefore, we are advising that initially students should bring some extra food to get them through the day. Students will not be able to visit shops during the school day and advised to make any purchases they need to make prior to their arrival in the morning.

Celebration Assembly

Plans are underway to hold another celebration assembly to recognise our students who have continued to maintain high standards during these difficult times. However, the junior school camps have meant that we need to defer this until the first week back in term four. Parents of students who will be recognised will receive a personal invite.

Trivia Night

The school ball is now less than two weeks away and final preparations are still underway. Our Trivia night will take place on Friday 23rd in our school hall at 6pm. This is not a general knowledge quiz that many will be used to but rather a mental challenge that you will enjoy. If you want to give this a go contact the Principal on the school number 417 8620.

Broken record time: There are only 23 school days left for our seniors before they begin their exams.

Nga mihi.

Declan Sheridan , Principal

The Dangers of Vaping

Imagine, you're sitting with your grandfather as they take their final breath, their lives cut short by an addiction seemingly unbeatable. Your loved ones are just another number to the ever growing pool of souls departed from this world too early by addiction.

I'm going to convince you that vaping usage is bad for your body and our planet.

The impact of using vapes can really hurt you. To begin with, the main chemical in vape juice is nicotine which can be very dangerous. Nicotine itself has its own series of harmful effects including headaches, seizures, jitteriness, and elevated heart rate. There's also a flavouring in some vape juice called diacetyl that's connected to serious lung diseases.

Young people (mostly teens) have taken a liking to vapes. Do they know the risks? They should know what they are doing to themselves. According to the US Surgeon General's office, 26% of high school and up students have admitted to vaping, 15% admitted to smoking cigarettes in the past week and nearly 20% of students are vaping every day or several times a day and the numbers are climbing.

Young people's brains are more subjected to the harm vaping causes than adults.

This is because the brain is not fully developed until you're older. Some health risks stated by the US Surgeon General include addiction, mood disorders and permanent lowering of impulse control. If you don't rethink your choices now there could be dire consequences.

Vaping also plays a part in the decay of the earth's health. The non-profit health organisation, Truth Initiative, says when disposable vapes are thrown away they create both plastic and toxic waste. Nicotine salts, heavy metals, lead, mercury and flammable lithium-ion batteries enter waterways poisoning fish and going into soil, hurting wildlife. Do you want to be the reason innocent animals die?

My opinion on this topic is that vaping is a bad idea and can ruin your body. It's also something I don't recommend due to knowing all of the effects and consequences of what it can do to you. There are other ways of coping with anxiety and stress.

The Centre for Disease Control and Prevention says in 2018 61.7% of smokers quit. If they can quit smoking you can quit vaping!

With all the information I have given you, the dangers of vaping should be clear. Don't give into peer pressure, think for yourself - do you really want to take the risks?

- Arni-ka Williams

Māori Language Week

Years 7 and 8 marked Te Wiki o te Reo Māori by performing the school waiata with Whaea Clare and the senior Māori class. Whaea Clare wrote the waiata especially for Tokomairiro High School.

Year 11 Writing - A True Friend

Simba stares longingly up the pathway, waiting, waiting, waiting. It has been weeks since he has seen her. He had noticed that the house lights haven't been on for a while and the chimney was no longer blowing out smoke, he was confused as to why the house looked so empty. His whiskers twitch as the wind whistles past. A hint of burning wood floats on the breeze reminding him of days spent lazing by the fire. Cozy, comfortable, safe. He isn't sure where she has gone, or why. Did he do something wrong? Why was he forgotten? As dusk descends, he turns away, padding towards the flax bush he has made his home during his exile.

Rustling flax leaves tickle Simba awake and he shakes the slumber from his eyes. No use sitting around for yet another day alone he convinces himself and sets off across the paddocks. The lush green grass springs up under Simba's paws as he races across after a flitting white shape. He loses himself in the chase warming despite the autumn chill in the air.

Suddenly, a shadow cuts across Simba's path. Skidding to a stop he looks upwards to see a large figure making its way across the field. Could it be? Has she returned to me? Disappointment filters through him as he realises the figure is much too large to be her. Their scent is all wrong, whiskey and sweat is all he can smell. Simba's tail droops like the forgotten withered flowers in the garden that have been left for days without water. The person leans down to scratch his head and Simba leans into the touch, craving affection. Purrs rumble through his body as he winds through this person's legs. Eventually the stranger walks off but drops some left over food for Simba. Heading across the hills as Simba wanders back to his flax bush. He curls up as the setting sun paints the hillside amber.

The days blur by as Simba fills his time with hunting for food, exploring, and meeting strangers. Every day he finds something new and exciting; a small hedgehog rustling through the shrubs; a broken tree stump perfect for bathing in the sun. Time flows with these small enjoyments and before he knows it the season slides into icy winter.

A crack snaps Simba's attention away from the undergrowth he was examining. He glances around to see a small figure making its way towards the house. Could it be? He races across the frosted lawn, nearing the figure who kneels down to rub his back. Warmth runs through him at her touch as he realises she has finally, finally returned to him, he wasn't forgotten anymore, and now the house felt more like home to him as it was no longer empty.

Youth Council Quiz Night

In order to both provide an activity and financial support for the ongoing methamphetamine awareness campaign, the Clutha District Youth Council has organised a quiz night, set for the 23rd of September in the South Otago Town and Country Club. There are three prizes up for grabs, with a first prize of $100, and a second and third prize of $50, with the prize money having been donated by the Clutha Youth Community.

Teams of up to five are to be organised, with a cost of $5 per person on the night. Each entry to the quiz lets us contribute to the community, not only through the campaigns we run, but also through events like these, which help to bring us closer together - something which, I believe, is important in these exceptional times. Registrations can be made with your local youth councillor, Lucious Mann, at mannl@tokohigh.nz, or with Lilly Paterson, at lilly.paterson@cluthadc.govt.nz. I hope to see you all at the venue on the night!

RSA News From the Trenches

First up, I should acknowledge the passing of Queen Elizabeth and the tremendous service she gave to the Commonwealth for 70 years - nothing will surpass her level of dedication and the large amount of mourners is testament to the high regard she has been held. As a result Leishman's Funeral Service in Balclutha are "live streaming" the funeral service on 26th Sept at 1pm. The RSA will be running a van if any members wish to travel down to view the service. If you are interested, can you RVSP to either RSA or Sara Gillies by 23rd Sept, there will be afternoon tea provided.

We will also be showing on Saturday night the second All Blacks vs Wallabies test match which the pick the score jackpot still not being struck, this pot is sitting at well over $500, also there will be a novelty supper, so no reason not to be there.

Speaking of rugby, our NPC Tipping Comp is roaring along like a runaway truck, as its getting close to "squeaky bum time" as play offs are not far away. The points are being covered up shortly to add another level of stress to the leading combatants. We currently have two self proclaimed rugby experts with Lammy Moana currently holding a one point lead over Snow Cowie. These two hold a sizeable lead over the rest and it would be a choke of the highest order if they don't claim top prize - but it has happened before. Some of the chasing pack have not played their joker (which means double points for the round), so it may not be over yet. A certain female bar staff member is looming close with the hope of getting amongst the prizes.
